Scenár 4 – Anna si zafarbí vlasy

MARILLA: Anne Shirley, I've heard all about it. Now you open your door at once!

ANNE: Please go away, Marilla. I just want to die..

MARILLA: Open this door at once! Are you sick?

ANNE: Go away. Don't look at me.

MARILLA: Whats the matter?

ANNE: Gilbert called me Carrots.

MARILLA: I don't care what he called you. You have no reason to lose your temper. Anne Shirley, what have you done to your hair?

ANNE: Marilla, I thought nothing could be as bad as red hair. Green is ten times worse.

MARILLA: What have you done now?

ANNE: I dyed it.

MARILLA: Dyed it?

ANNE: I bought a bottle of something special from a man who came to the door. He said it would change my hair from red to black.

MARILLA: Who are you talking about?

ANNE: The man we met on the road today.

MARILLA: Well, I hope that this has opened your eyes to see where your vanity has taken you.

ANNE: What shall I do? Gilbert Blythe had no right to call me carrots.

MARILLA: You really smashed your heavy book over that boy's head?

ANNE: Yes.

MARILLA: Hard?

ANNE: Very hard, I'm afraid.

MARILLA: I know I should be angry. I should be furious. What a way to behave your first day at school! But, if you promise me it will never happen again, I won't say another word about it.

ANNE: I know it was stupid of me! But what shall I do?

MARILLA: We have to wash them again and again.

I'm sorry Anne, we'll have to cut it all off. You can't go to school with green hair.

ANNE: You are right, Marilla. Perhaps this will teach me not to think about being beautiful.
